To the extent the order confirmation contains obvious errors, misspellings, or miscalculations, WEIMA shall not be bound by it.
5. WEIMA's silence in response to offers, orders, requests, or other declarations of the Customer is deemed to constitute consent only if there is a prior written agreement to that effect.

In the dealings between the contracting parties, WEIMA is exclusively entitled to all copyrights, patents, trademarks and all other intellectual property rights in the Software and in other items provided or made available to the Customer by WEIMA during the initiation of contractual dealings and in the course of the fulfilment of the contract. If third parties hold such rights, WEIMA has corresponding rights of use.
4. WEIMA grants the Customer the non-exclusive right to use the Software. Unless otherwise agreed, the right of use applies in the country in which place of delivery of the hardware is located. The Customer acquires the same rights in modified, enhanced or newly developed software as in the standard software.

4. The deliveries are subject to the condition precedent that performance is not precluded by national or international rules, in particular export control regulations, as well as embargoes or other sanctions.
5. Delays attributable to export controls extend delivery periods accordingly; delivery dates will be postponed as appropriate. In the case of supplies that are subject to approval, WEIMA has the right to delay performance until such time as export approval has been issued and the Customer has furnished evidence thereof to WEIMA, or to withdraw from the contract. In such cases, WEIMA's liability based on delayed performance or non-performance is excluded.

If the Customer violates an obligation under this Section 6 and/or if a business transaction is prohibited in whole or in part, WEIMA is entitled to withdraw from this contract in whole or in part for significant cause without the need to observe a notice period. This shall not affect any claims to which WEIMA is entitled against the Customer.

7. Prices and Payment

1. In the absence of any specific agreement to the contrary, all prices apply ex works and are exclusive of shipping and packaging costs, insurance, statutory taxes, customs duties, and other levies. The costs incurred in this context, in particular the costs for packaging and transport the products, will be invoiced separately. The Customer shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract if prices are increased by more than 5%. The Customer will promptly notify WEIMA upon the latter's request of whether or not it will exercise such right of withdrawal.
3. In the absence of a specific agreement, the delivery price is payable immediately upon delivery and receipt of the invoice without deduction. In particular, the deduction of cash discounts requires a separate written agreement between WEIMA and the Customer. The date upon which WEIMA is able to freely dispose of the delivery price is considered to be the payment date. If the Customer defaults in payment, it must pay default interest of 9 percentage points above the applicable base interest rate p.a. Any claims of WEIMA going above and beyond this shall remain unaffected.

4. In the case of international orders, in derogation from the foregoing subsection 3 above, payment shall be made prior to delivery unless otherwise agreed in advance and in writing.

In the cases mentioned in sentence 1, further deliveries by WEIMA will only be made against advance payment by the Customer.

If the customer enters into default in accepting the products, WEIMA is entitled to demand compensation for the damage incurred, including possible additional expenses, unless the Customer is not responsible for the non-acceptance of the products. In particular, WEIMA is entitled to place the products into storage at the Customer's expense for the duration of the default in acceptance. The costs for such storage shall be charged at a flat rate of 0.5% of the net invoice value per calendar week commenced. This does not affect any claims of WEIMA going above and beyond this. The Customer has the right to furnish evidence that WEIMA did not incur any storage costs or that such costs were lower. This does not affect any claims of WEIMA going above and beyond this. The same applies if the Customer violates other cooperation duties, unless the Customer is not responsible for the breach. If the Customer enters into default in accepting the products or violates any other co-operation duties, the risk of accidental loss and accidental deterioration of the products shall pass to the Customer no later than at the time it enters into default of acceptance. Upon the fruitless expiry of a reasonable grace period set by WEIMA, WEIMA is entitled to otherwise dispose of the products and to supply the Customer within a reasonably extended period.
3. If shipping is delayed due to circumstances beyond WEIMA's control, the risk shall pass to the Customer upon notification of readiness for shipping.

Claims by the customer for defects resulting from a breach of this obligation are excluded.
2. If the products are defective, WEIMA shall at its discretion render subsequent performance either by rectifying the defect or by delivering a defect-free product. When rendering subsequent performance, WEIMA is required to bear all expenses incurred to this end, in particular transport expenses, personnel, and material costs, to the extent that these are not increased by the products being taken to a location other than the delivery address. Personnel and material costs claimed by the customer in this context shall be calculated on a cost basis. Products and parts of products replaced within the scope of subsequent performance become the property of WEIMA and must be returned to WEIMA.

The right of withdrawal is also excluded if WEIMA is not responsible for the defect and if the Customer is required to compensate the value instead of returning the performance.
5. The assertion of claims based on defects is excluded if the defect is attributable to natural wear and tear, particularly in wearing parts, improper handling, operation, or storage or improper modifications or repairs of the products by the Customer or third parties. The same shall apply to defects attributable to the Customer, in particular if the defect is due to chemical, physical, or thermal influences that are unusual and which the customer has not notified WEIMA of in writing. The same applies to defects that are attributable to the Customer or that are due to a technical cause other than the original defect.

6. Claims of the Customer for reimbursement of expenses instead of compensation for damages in lieu of performance shall be excluded unless a reasonable third party would also have incurred such expenses.
7. Unless otherwise agreed in writing on a case-by-case basis, WEIMA does not assume any warranty, in particular any warranty as to quality or durability.
8. The limitation period for claims based on defects asserted by the Customer is one year, the supply chain end with a consumer goods purchase (end customer is a consumer). If the defective products have been used in accordance with their normal use for a structure and have caused its defectiveness or there is a defect in a structure, the limitation period is five years. This limitation period shall apply to claims in tort based on a defect of the products. The limitation period begins when the Customer collects the products, at the latest however when they are delivered to the Customer. The shortened limitation period shall not apply to unlimited liability of WEIMA for damages resulting from the breach of a guarantee or, from death or bodily injury, or harm to health, for intent and gross negligence, and for product defects, or insofar as WEIMA has assumed a procurement risk. Any comment of WEIMA on a claim based on defects asserted by the Customer shall not constitute an opening of negotiations concerning such claim or the circumstances giving rise to the claim, provided that WEIMA rejects the claim for defects in its entirety.

10. Defects of title

1. WEIMA warrants that there are no third-party rights precluding the contractually agreed use of the Software by the Customer. In the case of defects of title, WEIMA shall, at its discretion, provide warranty by granting the customer, at its discretion, legally unobjectionable use of the software or equivalent software.
2. The Customer shall notify WEIMA without delay and in writing if third parties assert property rights (e.g., copyright or patent) on the software. WEIMA shall support the Customer in defending against such claims by third parties by providing advice and information.
3. The provisions of Section 9 shall otherwise apply mutatis mutandis to any defects of title.

11. Liability of WEIMA

1. WEIMA is liable without limitation for damage resulting from the breach of a warranty or from injury of life, body or health. The same applies with respect to intent and gross negligence or insofar as WEIMA has assumed a procurement risk. WEIMA is liable for slight negligence only if material obligations are violated, arising out of the nature of the contract and being of essential importance for the attainment of the contractual purpose. In the event of a breach of such obligations, delay, or if it is impossible to perform these, WEIMA's liability is limited to typically foreseeable damage within the scope of this contract. Mandatory statutory liability for product defects remains unaffected.

2. To the extent that WEIMA's liability is excluded or limited, this shall also apply to the personal liability of the employees, workers, staff, representatives, and vicarious agents of WEIMA.

12. Product liability

1. The Customer will not modify the products; in particular, not modify or remove any existing warnings about risks due to improper use of the products. In the event of a breach of this obligation, the Customer shall in the internal relationship indemnify WEIMA from and against any and all product liability claims asserted by third parties, unless the Customer is not responsible for the fault giving rise to the liability.
2. 13. Force majeure

1. If WEIMA is hindered in fulfilling its contractual obligations, especially in delivering the products, by force majeure, WEIMA shall be freed of its contractual obligations for the duration of the hindrance and a reasonable start-up period, without being obliged to pay compensation to the Customer. The same applies in the event that unforeseeable circumstances beyond WEIMA's control, such as labor disputes, pandemics, epidemics, measures taken by government authorities, energy shortages, delivery disruptions from suppliers, or significant disruptions to operations, in particular cyber-attacks, make it unreasonably difficult or temporarily impossible for WEIMA to fulfill its obligations. This shall also apply if such circumstances occur at a sub-supplier. This shall also apply if WEIMA is already in default. If WEIMA is released from its obligation to deliver, WEIMA shall refund any advance payments made by the customer.
2. On expiry of a reasonable period, WEIMA shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract if such impediment continues for more than four months and the performance of the contract is no longer of interest to WEIMA due to such hindrance. At the Customer's request, WEIMA will, on expiry of such period, declare whether it will exercise its right of withdrawal or deliver the products within a reasonable period of time.

14. Retention of Title

1. WEIMA retains title in the delivered products until such time as the purchase price and any and all claims to which WEIMA is entitled against the Customer under their business relationship have been settled in full. For the duration of the retention of title, the Customer shall handle the products subject to retention of title with due care. It shall, in particular, sufficiently insure the products subject to retention at its own expense at replacement value against fire, water, and theft damage. At WEIMA's request, the Customer shall provide proof of the insurance policy. The Customer assigns to WEIMA, with effect as from today, all claims for compensation arising under such insurance. The Customer must notify WEIMA without delay and in writing of any attachment or other intervention by a third party, provide all information required, inform the third party of WEIMA's title to the goods, and assist in all measures taken by WEIMA's in order to protect the products subject to retention of title. To the extent to which the third party is not able to reimburse to WEIMA the judicial and extrajudicial costs incurred for enforcing WEIMA's title, the Customer shall reimburse WEIMA the loss sustained in this connection unless the Customer is not responsible for the breach of duty.

3. The Customer assigns to WEIMA, with effect as from today, all claims in connection with the resale of the products together with all ancillary rights, irrespective of whether the products subject to retention were resold prior to or after processing. WEIMA accepts such assignment with effect as from today. If such assignment is not permissible, the Customer herewith instructs the third-party-debtor to make payments exclusively WEIMA. The Customer shall be revocably authorized to collect the claims assigned to WEIMA in trust for WEIMA in the Customer's own name. The amounts collected Shall be transferred to WEIMA immediately. WEIMA may revoke the Customer's authorization for collection and resale for good cause, in particular if the Customer fails to duly meet its payment obligations vis-à-vis WEIMA, defaults or ceases payment, or if the Customer files opening of insolvency proceedings or similar proceedings for the debt settlement proceedings in respect of its own assets, or if the request for the opening of insolvency or comparable proceedings in respect of the Customer's assets filed by a third party is refused due to lack of assets. In the event of a blanket assignment by the Customer, the claims assigned to WEIMA shall be explicitly exempted.
4. At WEIMA's request, the Customer shall promptly notify the third-party debtor of the assignment without delay and provide WEIMA with the information and documents required for collection.
5. In the event of conduct contrary to the terms of the contract, in particular if the Customer is in default of payment, WEIMA shall, without prejudice to its other rights, be entitled, to withdraw from the contract after expiry of a reasonable grace period set by WEIMA. The Customer shall without delay grant WEIMA or its agents access to the products subject to retention of title and return them. After due and timely notice, WEIMA may otherwise dispose of the products subject to retention of title in order to satisfy its due claims against the Customer.
6. The processing or transformation of the products subject to retention of title by the customer shall always be carried out for WEIMA. The Customer's expectant right to the products subject to retention of title shall continue to apply to the processed or transformed item. Should the products be processed or transformed together with other items not owned by WEIMA, WEIMA shall acquire joint title in new item in proportion of the value of the delivered products to the other processed items at the time of processing or transformation. The same shall apply if the products are connected or mixed with other items not owned by WEIMA in such a manner that WEIMA loses full ownership. The Customer shall keep the new items for WEIMA. In all other regards, the item created by processing or transformation, as well as connecting or mixing is subject to the same provisions as to the products that are subject to retention of title.

7. . If, taking into account standard valuation adjustments by the banks, the realizable value of the securities exceeds the claims of WEIMA arising from the business relationship with the Customer by more than 10%, WEIMA shall at the Customer's request be required to this extent to release the securities to which the Customer is entitled. The valuation is to be based on the invoice value of the products subject to retention of title and on the nominal value of the claims. The selection of items to be released is incumbent upon WEIMA in each case.
8. In the case of delivery to other legal systems in which the foregoing provisions on the retention of title do not have the same effect as in the Federal Republic of Germany, the Customer hereby grants WEIMA a corresponding security right. The Customer will take all further measures that are necessary in this respect to grant WEIMA such corresponding security interest. The Customer shall assist in all measures necessary or conducive for the effectiveness and enforceability of such security interests.

15. Assembly

1. If WEIMA is commissioned not only with the supply of products, but also with assembly, this shall be carried out on the basis of a separate independent contract for work and services.
2. Such assembly contract is subject to the specific written assembly instructions issued by WEIMA.

2. The parties shall ensure by way of appropriate contractual agreements with their employees and agents, in particular their freelance employees and service providers that they, too, refrain for the period of five years from delivery from any and all private use, disclosure or unauthorized recording of such business and trade secrets.
3. The confidentiality obligation shall not apply if the information was demonstrably already known to the other party prior to the commencement of the contractual relationship, was generally known or publicly available or becomes generally known through no fault of the other party. The burden of proof for the non-applicability of the confidentiality obligation is incumbent upon the party that intends to disclose or has disclosed the information of the other party to a third party.

The parties process the personal data received (names and contact details of the contact persons in each case) solely for the purpose of fulfilling the contract and shall implement appropriate technical safety measures to protect this information (Art. 32 GDPR) that correspond to the current state-of-the-art technology. The parties are obliged to delete personal data as soon as the processing thereof is no longer necessary. This does not affect any statutory obligations to preserve records.
3. If in the course of the execution of the contract, WEIMA processes personal data on behalf of the Customer, the parties shall conclude a separate contract processing agreement pursuant to Art. 28 GDPR.

2. Counterclaims of the Customer entitle it to set-off only if such claims have been conclusively legally determined or are uncontested. The Customer may assert a retention right only if its counterclaim is based on the same contractual relationship.
3. The legal relationship between the Customer and WEIMA shall be governed by the laws of the Federal Republic of Germany to the exclusion of the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG).
4. The exclusive place of jurisdiction for all disputes arising in connection with the business relationship between the Customer and WEIMA is the registered office of WEIMA.
